EV Nutrition signs new distribution agreement with Biolev by Levapan for yeast, yeast extracts, flavour enhancers, and essential raw materials for the food industry in Italy, Turkey and Poland

Pero (MI), Italy, 21st October 2025 – Eigenmann & Veronelli (EV), Italy's leading and internationally oriented distributor of specialty chemicals and food ingredients, has signed a new distribution agreement with Levapan to serve the food markets in Italy, Turkey and Poland.

Under the agreement, EV will act as the exclusive distributor for Levapan's extensive range of yeast-based functional ingredients with the Biolev brand across all three countries.

With a fully integrated portfolio, Biolev by Levapan represents more than 70 years of expertise in yeast fermentation and ingredient innovation. The brand is recognised for delivering high-quality, clean-label solutions that meet the needs of both traditional and emerging food markets. From flavour enhancement and taste modulation to organic and wellness-focused applications, Biolev supports food manufacturers in creating products that are healthier, sustainable and sensorially appealing.

The products covered by the agreement include solutions designed to improve flavour, texture, and nutritional value across a wide range of food applications, including processed meats, snacks, ready meals, plant-based alternatives, sauces, soups, seasonings, baked goods, and more. In addition, the agreement includes ingredients with a strong focus on umami, salt reduction, and clean-label performance, empowering innovation in line with today's global consumer trends.

Stefano Carnelli, Group Business Unit Manager Nutrition at EV, said: "Partnering with Levapan enables us to deliver high-quality, traceable nutrition solutions across key markets. Their innovation and commitment to quality, safety and sustainability are strongly aligned with our values."

This strategic partnership highlights EV's dedication to collaborating with top-tier suppliers to address the changing demands of customers.

Jose Villareal, Business Unit Director at Levapan, said: "We are proud to collaborate with Eigenmann & Veronelli, a partner that shares our vision for innovation, excellence, and customer value. Through this agreement, we strengthen the reach of our Biolev portfolio, bringing natural, functional, and sustainable yeast-based solutions to more markets while supporting the evolving needs of the food industry."
