Eigenmann & Veronelli and Miraccl Chemicals announce strategic partnership for the Italian footwear market

Pero (MI), Italy, September 24, 2026 – Eigenmann & Veronelli (EV), a leading distributor of specialty chemicals and ingredients, is pleased to announce a new collaboration with Miraccl Chemicals Co., Ltd., a global developer and manufacturer of advanced polymer materials, to support the growth of innovative solutions for the Italian footwear industry.

Under the collaboration, EV will promote Miraccl's portfolio in Italy, focusing on molding and adhesive technologies for footwear applications.

The partnership combines Miraccl's expertise in advanced material technologies with EV's strong market presence, commercial network and technical capabilities, creating new opportunities for customers seeking high-performance solutions that meet evolving industry requirements.

“We are delighted to start this collaboration with Miraccl Chemicals,” said Raffaele Paudice, Business Unit Manager, Advanced Materials at Eigenmann & Veronelli. “The Italian footwear sector is recognized worldwide for its quality, innovation and craftsmanship. By combining Miraccl's technological expertise with EV's local market knowledge, we will provide customers with access to innovative materials backed by dedicated technical support.”

The cooperation reflects both companies' commitment to driving innovation and delivering value across the supply chain. During the initial phase, EV and Miraccl will work closely to identify new market opportunities, support customers' development projects and facilitate the adoption of advanced material solutions within the footwear industry.

“We are very pleased to partner with Eigenmann & Veronelli to strengthen Miraccl's presence in the Italian footwear market,” said Santosh Mishra, Regional Sales Manager Europe at Miraccl Chemicals Co., Ltd. “Italy is a key hub for footwear innovation and design, and EV's strong market expertise and technical capabilities make it an ideal partner for Miraccl. Together, we look forward to bringing our TPU molding and adhesive technologies closer to customers and supporting the development of the next generation of footwear solutions.”

This collaboration further strengthens EV's strategy of partnering with leading global manufacturers to deliver innovative, sustainable and high-performance solutions to customers across key industrial markets.
