Eigenmann & Veronelli expands food ingredients portfolio through partnership with Perfat Technologies in Italy and Turkey

The agreement broadens access to Perfat's lipid-based ingredient solutions through EV's commercial and technical platform across two strategic markets.

Pero (MI), Italy, October 8, 2026 – Eigenmann & Veronelli Group (EV), a leading international distributor of specialty chemicals and food ingredients, has entered into an exclusive distribution agreement with Perfat Technologies, a Finnish developer and manufacturer of value-added lipid-based ingredients, covering Italy and Turkey.

Under the agreement, EV will exclusively represent and distribute Perfat Soft, expanding its food ingredients portfolio and strengthening the market presence of Perfat's solutions across both countries.

The partnership combines Perfat's product expertise with EV's established commercial organisation and technical capabilities, supporting food manufacturers with solutions designed to meet evolving formulation and performance requirements.

"Partnering with Perfat Technologies expands our portfolio with a differentiated and innovative solution and reinforces our commitment to delivering value-added and healthier ingredients to the food industry," said Stefano Carnelli, Business Unit Manager Nutrition at Eigenmann & Veronelli Group. "The agreement strengthens our offering in Italy and Turkey and creates new opportunities for customers in both markets."

*"We are very excited about the cooperation with Eigenmann & Veronelli. Their strong customer base and deep technical understanding of value-added ingredients make them an ideal partner for introducing a new category like ours." said Jyrki Lee-Korhonen, CEO at Perfat Technologies.

The agreements represent a significant step in the growth strategies of both companies and reinforce their commitment to supporting customers with high-quality ingredient solutions in the food sector.
